WOW!

Our first Progress Report – where to start...

LoneStarCon3 is pleased to have been selected to be the 71st WorldCon. We want to thank all the folks who were instrumental in helping us become LSC3: the many people who sat at bid tables and helped with parties, the bid website, social media, flyers and everything else necessary for the bid to succeed. We also want to thank all those who contributed to the bid, either as a basic supporter or as one of our Friend level contributors.

We wish to thank our guests for agreeing to join us in 2013. Regretfully, Darrell K. Sweet passed away in December, and we particularly want to thank Darrell R. Sweet for allowing us to honor his father.

San Antonio is a great city for a convention! The San Antonio River Walk is known nationwide as a choice vacation spot and is located right outside the doors of all three of our facilities. This will be the second time that we have had the pleasure of hosting a WorldCon in San Antonio, Texas, and we are looking forward to having everyone from around the world visit us again.

We've had several meetings with fans from San Antonio who have never attended a WorldCon, and the level of interest is huge. Many have agreed to help as volunteers and a few have joined the committees as well.

The real work is just beginning. We have all of our division heads and most of our key staff in place, but we are always looking for more folks with enthusiasm and time to help. We invite you to volunteer for a job, big or small, and get to know other fans before the convention. There are still a number of jobs open, and we are always ready to work with anyone who wants to pitch in and help, no matter how much time they have to offer. Plus, it could give you an excuse to visit San Antonio early!

Our Exhibits division is already off to a roaring start and will be explaining some of their ideas in this progress report. We will also be hearing from Services and Facilities.

We will use a number of ways to keep in touch with all our members this year. In addition to these Progress Reports, you can follow us on our website at www.lonestarcon3.org, Facebook (LoneStarCon 3) and Twitter (@LoneStarCon). You can email us at info@lonestarcon3.org and contact many of our committee members directly at the emails available on the website.

If you would rather have Progress Reports emailed to you, please let us know at info@lonestarcon3.org.

We welcome all of you to join us in celebrating our guests, our community, the year in Science Fiction and Fantasy, the state of Texas, the city of San Antonio and the San Antonio River Walk.

Division Heads Speak Up

Member Services

Division Head: Sharon Pierce

The Member Services Division serves everyone who attends the convention. It goes so seamlessly that some are served in very large ways and some never even know they are being served. We have all of our Area Heads in place, including several who did outstanding jobs for Renovation (2011). Two of our most visible services are Childcare and Handicapped Access. Lisa Garrison Ragsdale, our Childcare Area Head, is already working on her strategy to land a safe, caring and watchful group to provide for the children while parents participate in other activities. Sally Woerhle, the Handicapped Access Area Head, who will again be assisted by Bill Thomasson, is hoping to provide better maps to help mobility impaired fans make their way through the facilities. We will be providing information on scooter rentals as we get closer to the convention.

Volunteers will be headed by Virginia (Ginny) Youngstrom. If you would like to help on any facet of the convention and have not yet been named as Staff, please contact her at Volunteers@lonestarcon3.org.

Thanks to the hard work by the Facilities Staff, I am excited to announce that our ConSuite will be on the Mezzanine level of the Marriott Rivercenter. I look forward to bringing more news you can use from Member Services.

Exhibits

Division Head: Patty Wells

Texas has some of the most fabulous SF materials in the world. In Exhibits, we are working to see how many unique items we can collect. Here's a glimpse of what we've got in the works:

- The Robert E. Howard House is located in Cross Plains, and the local library displays some of his original manuscripts. We have a staff member and Howard expert working on a side trip to Cross Plains.
- L. Sprague de Camp's papers are held by the Harry Ransom Center at the University of Texas at Austin.
- Hal Hall amassed a large collection of fanzines at Texas A&M's library. Harry Warner's fanzine collection is also in Texas.
- We will have a major Darrell K. Sweet exhibit to celebrate his life and art.
- NASA has a major presence in Texas, and we are in contact with them about display materials.
- Original artwork from TSR's Dungeons & Dragons books are in a collection in Texas.
- 2013 will mark the 50th anniversary of Doctor Who. With a Doctor Who writer as our Toastmaster, we want to recognize the series in Exhibits.

There are many more ideas under discussion, and we are seeking ideas and input from others who would like to help.

Want to volunteer in Exhibits? Contact us at ExhibitsDH@lonestarcon3.org.

Publications

Division Head: Bill Child

The first thing you might have thought when you picked up this Progress Report was, "The cover art isn't finished!" But that's where you're wrong.

Brad W. Foster, illustrator extraordinaire, would tell you that the illustration is far from unfinished. What you see on the cover is a finished product. Each of the four LSC3 Progress Report covers will give you a glimpse into the mind of an illustrator. (Scary, huh?) Look closely and you can see the process from start to finish. From sketching and shading to more details and color, the covers help the art-challenged and art experts alike understand how an illustration comes to life.

Brad designed the four covers for LSC3 as four sections of one large illustration. (You might recall that Brad illustrated the LSC2 Progress Reports in 1997, which combined six covers in a similar way.) Each new section will be a little more "finished" in look, as the overall illustration proceeds from rough sketch to finished art, all in one picture. It's just the kind of thing you can only do in a fannish project like this!

Look for Progress Report 2 in August (just before ChiCon7) to see how the next illustration comes along. And don't forget to make sure you get every PR so you understand the whole image. You wouldn't want to feel left out.

Want to know more about Brad? Visit www.jabberwockygraphix.com to see more of his work.

Facilities

Division Head: Joyce Hooper

We are pleased to announce the facilities in San Antonio will treat us right!

We are holding a boatload of space at the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center, and both the Marriott Riverwalk and Marriott Rivercenter (affectionately known as Little Marriott and Big Marriott) will be providing all the hotel rooms, as well as all their function spaces, to LoneStarCon3.

During the day, most of the convention will be held in the Convention Center. At night, most of the convention activities, including the hotel room parties, will move to the Marriott Rivercenter.

These are the same facilities that were used for the previous San Antonio WorldCon, although the Convention Center has been extensively expanded since 1997.

Both hotels are conveniently situated near the Convention Center and offer easy access to the San Antonio River Walk. The River Walk, a pedestrian only, fully wheelchair accessible foot path, offers direct access to the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center without having to face street traffic.

The Little Marriott, or as it's officially called, the San Antonio Marriott Riverwalk, is directly across the street from the Convention Center and is an entirely non-party hotel. On the other side of the Marriott Riverwalk from the Convention Center is the San Antonio Marriott Rivercenter, or Big Marriott, which is the larger of our two convention hotels and will play host to the Hugo awards ceremony, masquerade, and evening/night convention programming, as well as the Con Suite and room/suite parties.

All our facilities are non-smoking, and both Marriott hotels have the same room rates:

- $154 for single or double occupancy
- $175 for triple or quad occupancy
- an additional $35 per person above four

Reservations will open in early 2013.

Little Marriott (Riverwalk) has a Starbucks and the Cactus Flower

Restaurant, which offers Tex-Mex style cooking. Big Marriott (Rivercenter) is the home of Sazo's, good Latin and Spanish fusion food offering breakfast, lunch and dinner, as well as traditional American hotel food. There is also a Starbucks and the lobby bar.

If you're looking for party supplies, there is a Costco and a half-dozen grocery stores within a convenient taxi ride of the Convention Center. There are five easily accessible drug stores, one within a Herculean stone's throw, the others within walking distance. And yes, there's even a Walgreens on an adjacent corner to a CVS.

Almost any food you may desire that has been produced by civilized Earth cultures is available at all hours of the day within a few short blocks of the Convention Center. What money you haven't spent in the dealer's room can be expended at the Rivercenter Mall, directly connected to the River Walk pedestrian area. The Rivercenter Mall also includes a food court and several restaurants.

Interview with Fan Guest of Honor, Willie Siros

The Fan Guest of Honor is the owner/manager of Adventures in Crime and Space, a bookstore specializing in new and used science fiction, mystery and horror books. For nearly 31 years, Willie has been selling books at sci-fi and mystery conventions. He once had the pleasure of talking to Stephen King in a bar for an hour without even realizing with whom he was conversing. In this interview, Willie shares more about how he found his passion for sci-fi.

1 Give us a brief bio of Willie Siros. What makes you tick? Where did you grow up and how did you find science fiction and fantasy?

I was born in El Paso in August 1952 to a Disciple of Christ (Christian) Minister. We moved around a bit and ended up back in El Paso in 1962 when my father “retired” from the ministry and became a middle school history teacher. I graduated from Burges High School in 1970, and I graduated with a BA in Political Science in 1974. I started graduate school to work on an MA in Political Theory, and whilst in school, I found a bookstore clerk who collected virgins. Her other hobby was reading science fiction, and she knew several other customers who also read science fiction. So we all met up in the spring of 1973 and started a science fiction club. There were, of course, different visions of what “science fiction” meant, and by the spring of 1974, we had schismed. One group of people who wanted to do SCA/Amtgard stuff had discovered sex; the other group of readers (OK, nerds) hadn’t. As the prudish ringleader of the latter group, I decided I didn’t need anyone’s help to discover fandom. See, I had been reading Lin Carter’s column in Worlds of If and knew I could go to a convention and see for myself. I chose the 1974 WesterCon in Santa Barbara, where Philip K. Dick was to be GoH. I talked a friend into going and we drove straight from El Paso to Santa Barbara without a map. PKD didn’t show, but I met amazing people and discovered Robert Taylor, who was also from El Paso. The rest, as some say, is history.

2 How long have you been a fan? What was your first organization? Fanzine? Convention? WorldCon? All-time favorite convention?

I started reading science fiction when I was in the hospital with rheumatic fever after the 6th grade and was tired of reading the biographies and stuff my parents brought me. The librarian snuck in some Groff Conklin anthologies. When I got out of the hospital, I discovered no one stopped me from reading “adult fiction” books. After working my way through the usual suspects in 1968–1969, I discovered Roger Zelazny, Samuel Delany and Ursula K. Le Guin, and I was never the same.

Before that, in 1966, I was part of a flying saucer club, The Southwest Ufologists Association. (Remember, El Paso is not all that far from Roswell and “the incident at Socorro” happened around this time.) I was fascinated and found other weak-willed classmates to be fascinated with me. We had meetings at the downtown public library, got some “weird kids” acting weird press attention. Sadly, the flying saucers refused to pay attention to us and I moved on...

Like pretty much every sci-fi fan in Texas, MidAmeriCon (Kansas City, 1976) was my first WorldCon. I had joined Disclave in 1974 and AussieCon 1 in 1975 (when I voted for the Hugo Award™ for the first time). I had invited Tom Reamy to be Toastmaster for SolarCon 2 and I followed him around BigMac like a puppy—watching, learning. At the 1974 WesterCon, Jack Chalker pinned me in a corner and wanted to know the real story behind Big D in ’73; I had no idea what he was talking about.

From El Paso, Dallas and Denver are pretty equidistant, and Houston and LA are pretty equidistant. So I had discovered West Coast/Rocky Mountain fandom long before I knew any fans in the rest of Texas. I had to find out what Big D in ’73 was all about, aside from it causing the Minneapolis in ’73 parties forever after. My favorite sci-fi event wasn’t really a meeting. It was the 1975

Science Fiction Research Association meeting in Denver because I met Ellison, Le Guin, Ian Ballantine, Robert Abernathy and Lyman Tower Sargent (foremost utopia/dystopia expert) for the first time. It was also when I discovered I wasn't going to become an academic.

3 What is the craziest thing you have ever done at a convention? The furthest you traveled to attend a two- or three-day convention?

Among the craziest things I've ever done at a sci-fi convention was following Bob Vardeman and Victor Milan in breaking onto the roof of the Oakland Claremont to watch the fireworks over the Bay at the 1975 WesterCon. The furthest I traveled to attend a three-day con was driving from Austin with Robert Taylor and Pat Mueller Virzi to throw an LSC1 bid party at MarCon in Columbus, Ohio in 1983. Driving straight through, 24 hours each way was pretty damn crazy, too.

4 The 1985 NASFiC was something you were responsible for. What was different about that convention? What are your best memories of it? Do you have bad memories from it? Would you do it again?

Nothing was different about it. It was a very large ArmadilloCon. It was a lot of fun. My birthday party on the riverboat was a high point, as was discovering Clayburn Moore and meeting Richard Powers. I could have done without the freon leak rumors, and I've always been sad that several people burned out afterwards. If I were still the person I was 30 years ago, I would certainly try to do it again. But as Dirty Harry tells us, "A man's got to know his limitations." One good thing that came out of doing LSC1 was Robert and I knowing we needed to train people in what we were planning. We started InstaCon in 1983 as a convention planning/training opportunity and dragged people like Ben Yalow and Jim Gilpatrick down to help teach. I think it was a success.

5 Top 10 SFF novels? Short story collections? Series?

Varies depending on my mood. Favorite writers are Clark Ashton Smith, Iain Banks, Gene Wolfe, early Delany and early Zelazny, J. G. Ballard, Jack Vance, John Crowley, Jonathan Carroll and Charles de Lint. Never read as much short fiction as I have novels.

6 What reference books should be on everyone's shelves? Why?

With Wikipedia and isfdb.com, there's not much need for reference books. I find I still use my L.W. Currey, Science Fiction & Fantasy Authors: A Bibliography (G.K. Hall, 1979) and John Clute's The Encyclopedia of Science Fiction (1993) and The Encyclopedia of Fantasy (1997) a lot. They're often faster than opening search windows since they are at my desk. Clute's encyclopedia is now online as well.

7 You are a noted book collector. What is the most exciting book you ever found and bought at a convention? What writer did you travel furthest to see? What writer did you never meet that you wanted to?

As many things do, "exciting" changes over the years as I learn more. At the World Fantasy Convention in 1976, I was giddy about finding a pretty Hillman edition of The Dying Earth by Jack Vance for what at the time seemed the crazy price of $10.00. Most great finds were in local bookstores when I was traveling to and from conventions. I found a Kelmscott Press book in an antique shop in Victoria Texas for $30.00 in 1983, which I traded to Lloyd Currey for an Atomsk by Felix Forrest (AKA Cordwainer Smith). I found a pretty first edition of Slaughterhouse 5 in a used bookstore three blocks from the 1976 World Fantasy Convention for $4.00. I suppose the writer I traveled the furthest specifically to meet was Philip K. Dick, who, alas, I was never able to meet. I've met so many writers over the years, some of whom happened to be at conventions I attended. That's how I met John Brunner and Alfred Bester; they happened to be there, and I hadn't known they would be. Besides PKD, the writers I most would have liked to meet and talked with are Stanislaw Lem and J. G. Ballard.

8 Your all-time dream convention. Who would be your lineup—two writer guests, an editor guest, an artist, a musical guest, a fan guest and any one other person? Who would they all be?

Of living folk: Iain Banks and Kit Reed for writers. John Clute for editor. Robert McGinnis for artist. Weird Al Yankovitch for musical guest, Paul Krugman for fan guest, and Umberto Eco for special guest.

Of the not so living: Clark Ashton Smith and J. G. Ballard. The Fermans, pere et fils, for editor. John Schoenherr for artist. Ferman and Schoenherr never got the recognition they deserved. Tom Reamy for fan guest, and Arthur Machen or maybe Sir Richard Francis Burton for special guest.

Memberships

Individual memberships are available for Adults, Young Adults and Children. We also sell Family memberships, which reduce the cost of attendance for families with two or more children or young adults. The table below details the current membership rates and discounts. Note that these rates will expire on June 30, 2012.

VOTER STATUS	BID STATUS	SUPPORTING	ATTENDING
			Adult	Young Adult*	Child	Family
Voted ($60)	Ranger	Free	$0	$0	Free	N/A

* Young adults are defined as 17 to 21 years old as of September 2, 2013.

** Children are defined as 16 years or younger as of September 2, 2013.

***The family rate is the price of the two adults + $120. For those people who voted or were Rangers/Deputy Rangers, the price will be the sum of the price for each adult + $120.

Membership types

Supporting:

A Supporting Membership includes all of the rights and privileges of an attending membership, except the right to attend LoneStarCon3. You can always upgrade your membership from Supporting to Attending by paying the difference between the Supporting and Attending membership rates in force at the time of conversion. If you voted in the 2011 WorldCon Site Selection election, you are automatically a Supporting Member of LoneStarCon3 as a result of paying your voting fee.

Attending:

This membership includes all publications, as well as voting and attending rights.

- Adult: Available for anyone 22 years or older as of September 2, 2013.
- Young Adults: These memberships are available for ages 17 to 21 as of September 2, 2013. Individuals in this age group can also be included in Family Memberships (see below). YA memberships can only be transferred to people who also meet the YA age criteria.
- Child: Child memberships are available for all children ages 16 or under as of September 2, 2013.
- Family Memberships: Family memberships can be purchased for 2 adults and any number of dependent children ages 16 or under on September 2, 2013.
